BY CHARLEE MARSHALL
Monday night's three-hour meeting of the Bay-Waveland school board wasn't the fiasco that members were braced for. The need to protest the reassignment of students from Waveland to North Bay Elementary because of overcrowding caused many parents to request to be on the agenda. All agenda requestors were briefed by president James Wilcox on the rules and procedures to be followed when addressing the board and they kept their comments polite and courteous. Several did, however, get the point across that they were not pleased with the way the superintendent and board handled the reassignment process.

The fact that local newspapers knew about the reassignment before the parents were advised was the main objection. Board members gave their approval to superintendent Paul Tisdale at a special meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 1 to draw up plans for the reassignment. Although most parents had no knowledge of the school board meeting and its content, many heard through the grapevine about the plans to reassign students in kindergarten, first and third grades. Cheryl Bragg, the first parent to address the board on Monday night, found the situation "appalling."

"It reeks of lack of communication," she told the board members. Brenda Carver also found it "surprising to be informed this way" (through the newspapers). She said she hopes her son isn't affected by his reassignment and if a similar situation arises again, she wants to be "informed by the school and not through the paper." Michael Ferry was more upset with the board's "lack of planning" than anything else. He felt the board should have addressed the problem of overcrowding in the system before they were forced to reroute students. Jude Ferry was a little more outspoken in her address. "Y'all

Council adopts 1994-95 budget

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Bay St. Louis City Council adopted its 1994-95 budget Tuesday, setting a three percent decrease in millage for the city school system. With $10,483,411 earmarked for city government and the utility system, the budget has another $3,035,911 for school maintenance and indebtedness payoffs. The millage decrease for schools is attributed to an increase in the value of the tax base.

The city's own operations are funded virtually without a millage levy -- only five mills are assessed for city government, including two mills for the city-county library, and three for the city Parks and Playground Commission. The school levy was set at 48.45 mills, bringing the city tax total of 53.45 mills. There were no changes made by council in the budget proposed by Mayor Eddie Favre several weeks ago, and no controversy over its contents. But Councilman James Thriffiley expressed disappointment that council didn't meet with department heads individually during the budget process. He said such meetings could ward off "misconceptions" at the department-head level.

Favre said department heads had extensive input into the budgeting process administratively, however, and were not disappointed that they weren't called into special meetings with council. The budget adds three new workers to the public works department. In addition, one additional position is created in the police department's crime prevention division. Capital improvements financed in the budget include additional sidewalk construction and street paving, upgrades to some city-owned buildings, and repairs to the city sewer system.

Renourishment up for comment from public

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Bay St. Louis' plans to use sand from an area north of the Highway 90 bridge to renourish the beachfront are up for public comment -- finally. Mayor Eddie Favre said Tuesday the city had been told for several weeks that the Corps of Engineers had the project in the public review stage. Actually, the formal comment period wasn't in effect when the city thought it was. As it stands, the public has until Sept. 27 to comment on the proposal. Favre said the city may begin advertising for bids before that deadline, to get the project moving along. The Corps already has given the city a permit to renourish the beachfront area between the bridge and Bookter Street. What's missing is the permit to dip into a 21-acre borrow area located about 1,200 feet offshore, between the bridge and the Bay Waveland Yacht Club. The city plans to use some 375,000 cubic yards of sand from the spot to fortify the beachfront. City officials had hoped to catch the coattails of the county's recent renourishment program. That program provided a 200-foot-wide sand berm in the 4.4 mile area between Washington and Danbe streets. The contractor for the county's project, however, completed that work and left town before the city could solidify its own plans for a renourishment program downtown. Favre said the permitting delay may put the city in a more advantageous position when

Pot plants continue to drop

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
The Hancock County Narcotics Task Force confiscated more marijuana plants Tuesday, this time from north Hancock County. More than 80 plants, between eight and 15 feet in height, were found near the area which intersects Hwy. 53 and 603. The dollar amount for the plants was nearly $150,000. "These were some of the tallest and healthiest plants that I have seen this year," Detective Terry Eley, with the Bay St. Louis Police Department, said. The marijuana plants are nearing harvest time and the narcotics task force will continue to search throughout Hancock County for the illegal plants, Eley said. Two fields were located, one contained 60 plants and the other more than 20. Assisting the Hancock County Narcotics Task Force were Investigator Matt Karl of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, assigned to the task force, Detective Terry Eley of the Bay St. Louis Police Department, assigned to the task force, Deputy William Richardson of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and Chief of Detectives of the Bay St. Louis Police Department, Tom Burleson. The task force will continue the investigation into ownership of the confiscated marijuana.

Candidates qualify for local elections

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
The November elections are right around the corner and citizens will be deciding on which candidates they would like to see in the positions. Here is a list of candidates who have qualified for the November general election. For the position of Hancock County Election Commissioner District 1 the candidates are Jim Odom, who is running as a Democrat and Jim Maness who is running as a Republican. In District 2, Donald H. Hardenstein is running unopposed. A judge has to make the decision as to whether or not all five Hancock County School Board positions will be voted upon, but candidates still had to qualify for all five positions. Three of the districts are running unopposed. L.J. "Larry" Ladner in District 1, Cheryl Bennett in District 2 and Tony Caston in District 3 are the unopposed candidates. In the District 4 race there are three candidates. The incumbent Kay L. Sones, Billie Lyons and Anthony Dubuisson are the candidates in that district. In District 5 the three candidates are incumbent Lennette Necaise, Desti Richard and Danita A. Ladner. Also in November, judges will be elected for Circuit 2. In Place 1 Kosta J. Vlahos is running unopposed. In Place 2 Jerry O. Terry is running unopposed and in Place 3 John Whitfield is also running unopposed. In Place 4 the candidates are Doyle L. Coates and Robert Walker. Waveland residents will vote in December on their candidates. Five candidates for mayor or have qualified so far. They are, running as Democrats,

A Diamondhead man has been arrested and charged with burglary of a commercial building after he was caught stealing coffee from Casino Magic. Detective Terry Eley with the Bay St. Louis Police Department said that Gary I. Nicodemus, 35, 68269 Diamondhead Dr. East, was found at the Casino Magic dry goods warehouse. "He allegedly stole two cases of soda, two cases of coffee, some popcorn and tools," Eley said. The alleged burglary occurred at 11:08 p.m. Tuesday. Detectives found that a lock had been pried off and thrown against a fence, Eley said, which is how Nicodemus allegedly gained access to the goods.

Commission lets runway contract

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is one step closer to getting work done on the runway at Stennis International Airport. The commission opened and awarded bids on the work Monday. Bush Construction of Laurel was awarded the contract. The work will consist of an asphalt overlay, runway painting, seeding and topsoil work. The bid amount was $1,299,135 which was amazingly close to the engineer's estimate of $1,278,725. The commission applied for and received a grant which will pay for 90 percent of the contract price from the Federal Aviation Association. The commission also approved the minutes from their meetings of August 22 and 29 and September 2. They also approved the claims and passed resolutions authorizing the advertisement for bids on ballasts and cross ties for the railroad. The also passed resolutions adopting the general operating budget, the Port Bienville operating budget, the Stennis International Airport operating budget and the Port Bienville Industrial Park operating budget.

Patrol launches Lifesaver

The Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol, concerned with the high rate of fatalities caused by motor vehicle crashes, launched an aggressive campaign on April 1 called the Lifesaver Program.

The results have been drastic.

When the program began, a 46 percent increase in fatalities had been recorded on state and federal highways between Jan. and March 31 compared to the same three-month period in 1993. The fatality count was 813 in 1993 compared to 766 in 1992. As of Aug. 29, there was a six percent decrease in fatalities on the same highways.

"This is not a coincidence," said Col. Jay Clark, MHSP director. "The troopers have worked very hard to make Mississippi roads safer. They are committed to doing whatever it takes to reduce the deaths on our highways."

Four months into the program, 14 Lifesaver details have been conducted with at least one in each MHSP district resulting in the issuance of a total of 14,947 citations.

During the two-day details, 574 drivers have been arrested on DUI charges and 65 pounds of marijuana have been seized. The most citations, 2,400, were issued during the first detail in Hancock County. Jackson County.

For each Lifesaver detail, about 30 troopers work across the state from 3 and 10 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and set up roadblocks between 10:30 p.m. and 2 a.m. Friday night, and Saturday morning, Saturday night and Sunday morning.

The Mississippi program has been so successful that the Tennessee Highway patrol asked this agency to assist them in a joint roadblock on the Tennessee-Mississippi line on June 24.

"Public support for the Lifesaver Program has been overwhelming," Col. Clark said. "In fact, two Lifesaver details on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and

The city had set aside $500,000 for the project last year. In the new budget, however, that figure was trimmed to $250,000.

Favre said the original allocation didn't contemplate contributions from the private property owners whose beachfront will be included in the project, or from the county.

messed up" she told the board.

She too was distressed that articles in the Sea Coast Echo and in the Sun Herald were the first notifications that children would be moving to a new school. She wanted to know when they first realized that the schools were overcrowded and why the board waited until school started to shuffle the students. She asked the board why they did not "write to all 80 of us."

Another parent used his time at the podium to say basically the same thing.

"You all send a note home about everything else," he pointed out. He likened the reassignment to the trauma of having a foreclosure on a home.

Tisdale explained to the parents that he felt the media was "basically the quickest way to get accurate information" out about the reassignment.

He said that the board had recently reviewed a population study, that they initiated, by Dr. Bill Lee in order to make plans to accommodate future student enrollment in the Bay-Waveland school system. We were aware we were going to have to add teachers and classrooms, he told them.

Even though the district held open registration, officials were surprised by the additional number of registrations they had to deal with.

"We wound up with 56 students extra," Wilcox pointed out.

Tisdale answered one question that arose when the board was asked if the students' move to North Bay would be a permanent one.

"We do not recommend reassignment back to Waveland," he responded.

After hearing other comments from parents on the reassignment issue, the board undertook many other items of business scheduled for the meeting which included the acceptance of bids on fax machines, approving a test security plan and going over quotes on dumpster rentals.

The athletic handbook was approved with several minor changes and the board approved the request from administrative assistant Billy Rhodes to advertise for bids on lights for the baseball field. Members also reviewed its policy on violence and weapons in the school, approved resignations and approved recommendations to hire school personnel.

A work session for construction at North Bay Elementary and Waveland Elementary schools will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 19.

QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

"I can remember the state of California in the past for the United States in fads and what."

Hancock County seems to be the pace setter in one area and has left California and every other state far back as it is taking a leading role in one fad.

It appears the fad for Hancock Countians is to drive vehicles with only one headlight operational.

Just last week, while we were on vacation and traveling in Knoxville, Tenn., Harold Masson said, "Quick, Ellis, look at that vehicle passing us, it has only one headlight working."

As the vehicle passed our bus we saw the tag. Guess what? There was a Hancock County tag on the vehicle.

Seems we are spreading the word that you can drive a vehicle in Hancock County with only one headlight operational.

What a fad to spread across our nation.

Wasn't the turnout great Saturday for the United Way's 'Day of Caring' project, which was the painting of the Hancock County Child Development Center?

There were some 50 volunteers who manned paint brushes, hammers, post hole diggers; sandpaper, scrapers, clippers, brooms and caulking guns.

Then there were the many merchants who donated paint, putty, brushes, sandpaper, refreshments, etc.

The new swing sets installation is a thing of beauty, too.

Thanks to everyone for the generous contributions of labor and materials.

It just shows what team effort can do. I have to say Hancock County is a great place to live, and volunteers like you help prove that there are not better people than Hancock Countians.

I wish each of you could have seen the eyes of the youngsters as they arrived to the 'new' facility on Monday.

By the way, I have been involved with the United Way in Hancock County for more than 25 years, and I will have to say the 'Day of Caring' was the greatest kickoff of a campaign I have ever seen.

Time to get back to local high school football.

There will be a lot of action Friday night involving local teams.

It will be a district opening game for both Hancock High and St. Stanislaus when they tangle at Hawk Stadium.

Bay High's Tigers will be seeking victory number two of the season when the play host to Greene County at the J.D. McCullough Stadium in Bay St. Louis.

Pass Christian, the hottest team in the area, will play host to arch rival Long Beach Friday night.

Hancock High's Hawks are seeking their first victory of the season, coming up on the short end of three games.

St. Stanislaus got off to a fast start breaking a string of losses, but has come up short two weeks in a row.

It should be an evenly matched game between the Hawks and Rock-A-Chaws.

Bay High will be tested by Greene County Friday night, and the Tigers could rebound after last week's loss to powerful Pass Christian.

Pass Christian and Long Beach have butted heads for many years, and prior records on previous occasions have meant nothing.

The Bearcats could be waiting for an upset if the Pirates are caught napping.

With the cooler evenings, Friday night should be a good night for attending a high school football game.

I hope to see you in the stands supporting the team of your choice.

Do not forget that Saturday is the big cleanup for Hancock County.

Volunteers will be throughout the county collecting litter, and your help is needed.

For further information, call the chamber at 467-9048.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Parent feels school did poor job on information

Dear Editor,

On Monday, Sept. 12, I had the pleasure of being an "agenda requester" at the Bay-Waveland School Board meeting.

My concern was the transfer of my son from Waveland Elementary to North Bay.

I told the board that I understood that due to overcrowding and lack of space at Waveland, there was no other choice than to transfer.

My objection was the way the board handled informing the parents. The decision to move was made at the Aug. 30 board meeting. Nine days later and two articles in the local newspapers, the 80 or so parents were sent a letter in the mail and also by our children, giving us only four days till the big move.

The board did not take into consideration after-school child care and transportation problems that each parent may face.

My solution to the board, was after the "big decision" was made, that a meeting of the affected parents should have been scheduled before anything was in the newspapers.

I could tell by the faces of the school board members they heard me, but were they really listening?

One school board member told me that we could talk at any meeting, but as far as decision making or influence, etc., the "state" said we had none!

So what is the use? To talk and not be heard!

I believe that the school board should have more than five members — making only three a quorum — to make decisions for our children's future.

Why not have school teachers, parents, etc. — the people really involved with our children — on this board?

I also believe that with a decision involving so many people — children, parents, teachers — it is the school board's responsibility to get the correct facts to the media, not to wait until the reporters decide to do it.

Parents, we can make a difference, if only we can be heard!

Sincerely,
Jude Ferry
Bay St. Louis

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Montgomery is not considering party change

No, Third District Congressman Sonny Montgomery is not contemplating switching to the Republican Party if the GOP comes within a few votes of taking over the U.S. House in November, despite what a right-wing commentator said on network TV.

A week or so ago, Robert Novak said on CNN's Capital Gang that Montgomery had told Republican National Committee Leaders he would switch if the GOP needed him to get a majority in the House after the November elections.

"I never told anybody that," Montgomery said from his Washington office the other day. "I don't know where Novak got that. He knows I'm a moderate Democrat who votes with the Republicans sometimes, but I didn't say that."

Montgomery said he was "happy in the Democratic Party as long as they let me keep my committee chairmanship (House Veterans Affairs)."

The 13-term Mississippi Congressman has been wooed for years by the Republican Party because of his conservative voting record. Although he votes against the Democratic leadership more than he votes with it, once in a while he has been helpful to the party leadership on close issues.

Most of the Clinton administration programs Montgomery has been against. Late, for example, he voted against the rule to bring the crime bill to the House floor and later against the final bill, and last year he voted against the Brady bill. Earlier, however, he voted for NAFTA and also for the National Service bill.

Last year perhaps Montgomery cast his most surprising vote so far during the Clinton presidency. He voted for Clinton's $500 million deficit reduction/tax package when it first passed the House.

But the tall, slender Mississippian later voted against the Clinton bill on final passage when it came back from the House-Senate Conference Committee. That was when the Clinton budget bill narrowly squeaked through the Congress.

As a result of his one vote for the Clinton administration in its initial House passage, Montgomery drew GOP opposition form a young Dutch Dabbs, a 36-year-old Brandon CPA who says that Montgomery should be tossed out of Congress.

Dabbs is trying to paint

Montgomery as a "liberal" Democrat. "Nobody believes that," Montgomery said last week in an interview with this writer.

However, Montgomery is not discounting Dabbs as a formidable foe who is working hard to unseat him. Particularly Montgomery is aware that Dabbs comes from Rankin County, which is now a GOP stronghold with a substantial vote.

The redrawing of Congressional Districts by the legislature last year, in which Republican lawmakers had considerable say-so, had given the east-central Third District a stronger GOP flavoring. That district also voted for George Bush over Bill Clinton in 1992 by 58 to 34 percent.

Over the last 28 years, the Republicans have put up only nominal opposition to Montgomery, and he has never been in any danger. In Dabbs the GOP has an unknown with no public record and on paper Montgomery should have no problems.

This, however, is one of those mid-term election years in which a new President, especially the first Democrat in 12 years, usually generates a turnover in the House. Some prognosticators are predicting that the Republicans could gain more than 30 seats in the House and could come close to gaining control of the lower branch of Congress.

That fact is why Montgomery is part of political speculation as a prospect for switching parties. Often in the past decade during the Reagan and Bush years, that possibility has surfaced but Montgomery has always held fast to staying on the Democratic side of the isle.

Montgomery, now 74, has always concentrated on veterans' affairs and national defense in Congress and is noted as being the "best friend" of the nation's millions of veterans.

The 1985 Montgomery GI Education Bill (updated in 1988) is one of the landmark pieces of national legislation.

He underwent a strong challenge to his Veterans Affairs chairmanship in 1993, but with the help of several key Democrats he was able to retain it.

There's little doubt that if Montgomery should retire the third Mississippi District seat could easily go to a Republican. But Sonny is not thinking of quitting.

FROM THE STATE AUDITOR

SCHOOLS

Q Does the fact that a school district does not have funds budgeted for such expense remove the obligation to pay a just and owing bill or to pay in compromise and settlement of a claim?

A No, the school district's budget may be revised in accordance with Section 37-61-21. (Attorney General's Opinion to Sanders dated May 11, 1994)
Q Would school districts which take action to adopt budgets prior to July 1 be required to follow the notice provisions of House Bill 585, notwithstanding the fact that the bill, including the notice provisions, does not take effect until July 1, 1994?

A If a school district sets its budget prior to July 1, 1994, as allowed by Miss. Code Annotated, Section 37-61-9, then it must adhere to the provisions of Miss. Code Annotated, Section 37-57-105, 37-57-107 and 37-61-9.

Should a school district anticipate that its budget will not be set prior to July 1, 1994, the effective date of House Bill 585's notice and hearing provisions, such district would adhere to the provisions of 37-57-105, 37-57-107, 31-61-9 and Section 4 of House Bill 585. (Attorney General's Opinion to Watkins dated June 1, 1994) empowered to order public schools to provide alternate classroom instruction for children who have been expelled under the Compulsory Education Act?
Q Are youth court judges

A While a youth court would not be empowered to enjoin a school district to provide alternate education programs, it is empowered by Section 37-13-92 to refer children to existing alternative education programs. (Attorney General's Opinion to Henley dated April 22, 1992)

Q What is the role and extent of authority of an appointed hearing officer for the hearing of non-renewal teacher contracts?

A In addition to the transcribed record of the hearing, a school board may direct a hearing officer to submit proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law and recommendations, which are just that, proposals and recommendations.

The ultimate decision rests with the school board, which is under a duty to base its decision on the record of the hearing which the board must review for itself.

A school board may not simply adopt a hearing officer's proposed findings, conclusions and recommendations without carefully reviewing the record of the proceedings. (Attorney General's Opinion to Sadler dated April 13, 1994)

Routes for litter pickup

Saturday is cleanup day in Hancock County. The Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee and other volunteers are gearing for the county-wide effort.

Volunteers are asked to place their bags of litter collected on either side of designated roads. Trucks will begin collecting at noon.

Darlene Underwood, chairman, said, "The cleanup will begin with registration beginning at 8 a.m. and end at noon on cleanup day."

Registration points will be set up at the Save Our Children Center, the Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier, Buccaneer State Park, Diamondhead, Pearlinton, Leetown/White Cypress, Shifalo Baptist Church (Hwy. 603-Kiln) and the H&H Road near an Oldman Avenue. These locations will be open from 8 to 9:30 a.m. for registration.

Boudin's Waste and Recycling will participate in the cleanup.

Those interested in more information or for pre-registration may call the chamber at 467-9048, said Betsy Ashman, co-chairman.

The routes for the Boudin Waste and Recycling trucks on the afternoon of the cleanup day are as follows:

Bay St. Louis; Beach Blvd., Dunbar Ave., Blue Meadow Road, Main St., Washington St., Old Spanish Trail, Third St., Second St., Highway 90, and Central Ave.

Waveland; Beach Blvd., Nicholson Ave., St. Joseph, Old

Spanish Trail, Washington Ave., Coleman Ave., Santa Ave., Jeff Davis St., Highway 90, and Central Ave.

Hancock County; Highway 604, Highway 603, Highway 90, Highway 48, Highway 53, Beach Blvd., Blue Meadow Road, Washington St., Paradise Lane, Chapman Road, Longfellow Road, and Kiln-Waveland Cut-Off.

TO THE VOTERS OF WARD 1 WAVELAND, MISSISSIPPI

A Message from your Alderman
BARBARA RAPPOLD
Mississippi does not enjoy the advantages of an OPEN PRIMARY.
WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

You, as a voter, cannot vote for a mayoral candidate of one political party and an alderman of an opposing party in the Democratic and Republican PRIMARIES.

I have represented you loyally for the past 16 years. I wish to continue my service to all the people of Ward 1. To allow all of you, my steadfast friends and supporters, the opportunity to exercise your right to vote for the Mayoral candidate of your choice, regardless of party affiliation, I hereby declare:

I will NOT run in either the Democratic or Republican Primary on November 8th. My name will not appear on either ballot.

I WILL RUN as an "INDEPENDENT" candidate in the General Election on December 6th. You can, at this time, cast your vote for ME and the Mayoral candidate you favor.

I need your support and vote in December.

Vote for the INDEPENDENT Candidate
BARBARA RAPPOLD

Echo claims newspaper awards

The Sea Coast Echo won several awards during the Mississippi Press Association's annual Better Newspaper Contest held in Tupelo in June.

Winning certificates in the editorial division for submissions made in 1993 were former staff writer Amy Pickich, and contributors to the newspaper Michael Reeves and Jim Maness. Pickich won an honorable mention for Best Feature Story. Reeves won a third place award for a sports pictorial series involving boxing and Maness won a third place certificate for his Fishin' Y'all column.

Qualified professionals from newspapers in other states judge the entries in various categories, pertaining to the circulation of the publication.

First Baptist planning revival

Dr. Jerry Swimmer is the evangelist in revival beginning Sunday, Sept. 18 at First Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis, 141 Main Street.

According to a news release, Dr. Swimmer was reared in a Jewish home. He went to the Synagogue as a child and prepared for his Bar Mitzvah when he was 13. He was saved at the age of 30 and has shared his testimony, "From the Synagogue to the Savior," across the United States and three foreign countries.

Now a full-time Southern Baptist evangelist, he has conducted more than 600 revival campaigns. Several of the top ten churches in the 14.5 million Southern Baptist Convention have used Swimmer as their evangelist. He has sung at the Southern Baptist Convention two years in a row.

Dr. Swimmer attended Temple University in Philadelphia, Pa., graduated from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, and holds a doctor of divinity degree from Immanuel Baptist Seminar. His testimony and many of the songs he sings have been recorded on cassette tape.

The public is invited to attend all services Sept. 18-21. Sunday services will be at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m., and on Monday through Wednesday at 7 p.m.

A "Pizza Pig Out" for junior and senior high students will be Monday, Sept. 19 at 6 p.m. and a "Giantic Hot Dog Supper" for grades 3-6 will be Tuesday, Sept. 20 at 6 p.m.

A nursery will be provided for all services. For information, call the church office at 467-4005, Dr. Ed Deuschle, pastor.

"The reports are not designed to tell people to stop eating out," said Dr. Melissa Mixon, extension human nutrition specialist at Mississippi State University.

"Instead, they are making available the facts about fats and calories so consumers can make their own informed choices."

Mixon reminded consumers that there isn't any one food that must be completely eliminated from a diet.

...planning to go out...
...something high...
...fat, calories and sodium...
...make a trade-off somewhere...
...else in your diet for that day," Mixon said.

"It's important to focus on the whole diet instead of worrying about a few types of foods."

Lower fat choices are available from many restaurants if consumers know what to look for. Reading food descriptions on menus or asking servers for food preparation details can tip off consumers to possible high fat content.

Key words to watch for include sauteed, extra crispy, battered, breaded, creamy sauce, tempura (fried), au gratin, pan fried, buttered and scalloped.

"At the movies, ask for no extra butter on your popcorn to eliminate extra fats," Mixon said. "For fast foods, try the ...chicken sandwich...

...the mayonnaise and special...
...sauces."

Substituting a plain side salad with low-fat dressing or a baked potato with a little margarine for French fries is another way to dramatically reduce fat and calories.

At Italian restaurants, ask for red or marinara sauce instead of cream sauces, and ask for sauces to be served separately so you can add as much or as little as you wish.

"The fat content of many Mexican dishes can be cut by eliminating or using very little guacamole, sour cream, cheeses and fried tortilla chips," Mixon said. "Top entrees with salsa or picante sauce, which are very flavorful and low fat."

Favorite Chinese foods such as egg and spring rolls, fried rice and fried meats in sauces

...ask...
...portion control...
...always an option, even...
...though it requires a lot of will-power," Mixon said.

"Remember that portion control is always an option, even though it requires a lot of will-power," Mixon said.

"But eating small portions of your favorites is much better than trying to avoid them entirely."

General guidelines for any restaurant include asking for cooks to cut back on added fats and oils, requesting grilled rather than fried meats, avoiding creamy sauces and salad dressings and watching out for appetizers, which often are loaded with fat.

Dedeaux is new administrator of association

The Mississippi Coast Restaurant and Beverage Association announces Devra Dedeaux has joined them in the capacity of executive administrator.

A Gulfport native, Dedeaux has returned to the Coast after 12 years in New York City, where she owned and operated several popular restaurants as well as authored a nationally published cookbook on Caribbean cuisine. She plans to put her years of restaurant and management experience to good use on the Coast.

"This job presents the ultimate challenge for me. I will have the opportunity to lead a quality group of businesses in an area in the midst of incredible growth," said Dedeaux.

Touching up

Allis Baughman touches up in areas missed by roller painting under overhang.

The Hancock County Child Development Center in Bay St. Louis received a fresh coat of paint Saturday as part of the United Way of South Mississippi's 'Day of Caring.'

In addition to having the outside completely painted, several inside areas were freshened up too.

Old playground equipment was removed and two large new swings were installed.

Volunteers representing the United Way, GE Plastics, Bay Rotary Club, Hancock Exchange Club, local businesses and just individuals gave their talents for a much needed project.

The 'Day of Caring' was in lieu of the United Way's annual campaign kickoff. Campaign chair for Hancock County is Toni Larroux.

Much of the items, such as paint, brushes, thinners, lumber, etc., were donated by organizations and local businesses.

Among those contributing included, W.A. McDonald & Sons, Markel Industries & Home Center, Adams Paint, Magnolia Federal Bank, Hubbard's Ace Hardware, Redditt Pest Control, Telephone Pioneers, Hancock Insurance Agency, GE Plastics, Treutel Insurance Agency and Ashman & Son Construction.

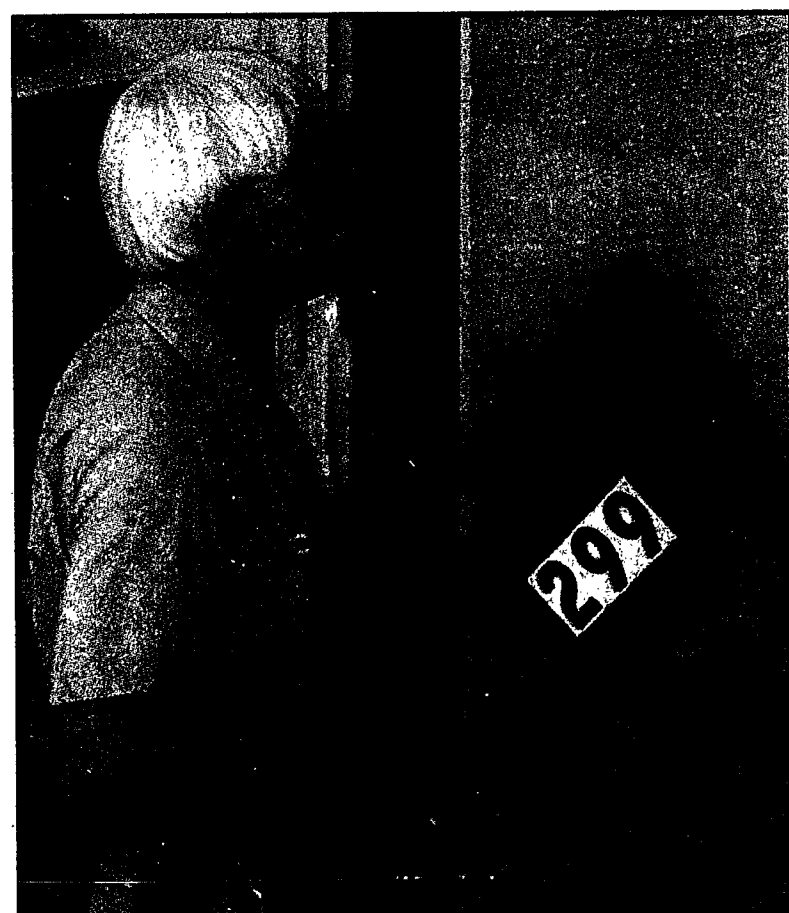

Coordinators for the United Way 'Day of Caring' were, Betsy Ashman, David Treutel Jr. and Mark DeRussy, who were joined by some 50 volunteers.

Roller painting

Mike Myers, begins task of roller painting gable end of building as Toni Larroux, right, brings more paint. Myers was representing the Bay Rotary Club, while Larroux represented GE Plastics. She is also the Hancock County 1994 United Way Campaign chairman.

Removes mailbox

Lee Ashman, owner of Ashman & Son Construction, was one of the many volunteers and the 'foreman' of the painting project for the Hancock County Child Development Center.

A pause

As the job finished, three of the volunteers from left, Mike Meyers, Betsy Ashman and Pat Cucullu pause among signs on the side of the Hancock County Child Development Center. Ashman, David Treutel Jr., and Mark DeRussy were co-chairmen for the United Way's 'Day of Caring' project in Hancock County.

Freshen up

Mark DeRussy, right, and Michael Haas Jr., prepare inside wall for painting. DeRussy was a co-chairman of the UW 'Day of Caring' project while Haas represented the Exchange Club.

FISHING Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishing y'all. The hablo español fish are showing up in the surf. These fish are just plain incredible. I don't ask what that word means because I don't know myself.

Anyway, the Spanish mackerel have been making their appearance in the mornings on a high tide. They seem to be the most numerous on morning when the water is "glassed out." I can only speculate they are more plentiful under smooth water condition because they can see their food better.

Speaking of food, it looks like the most special favorite food of the mackerel is small glass minnows. I am calling the minnows glass-sided as I do not know their proper name.

They have a small opaque line the full length of their side and the rest of their bodies are so clear you can see through the minnows from one side to the other. I guess you could say they are clear as glass. Boy, that was bad.

Mackerel seem to be among nature's most streamlined fish. They are shaped like a flat bullet. They have a forked tail that seems to be made for speed as well as strenght. When mackerel jump out of the water they exit and enter the water with very little splashing. This is unlike mullet which tend to jump out of the water and land with a splash on their side when they re-enter. You might also notice that mackerel jump out and get back in the water much faster than mullet.

Another fascinating aspect of Spanish mackerel is their coloration. They could be called pretty. They have a blueish body coloration with multicolored spots of various size along their bodies which distinguish them from other species of fish.

Now that I have the description and so forth out of the way, maybe I should talk about some ways to catch the critters. First off you are gonna need a hook — now that is a novel idea.

Seriously, you should consider at least a 4/0 carlsie or there about. You will need to have about 12 to 18 inches of good stout leader attached to your hook. I strongly recommend you use some type of steel leader material.

The coated steel leader material seems to hold up the best as mackerel have very sharp teeth. By the way, did I tell ya'll that mackerel have plenty of good sharp teeth? Now you know.

The bait to use for mackerel is something that looks like the small minnows they usually feed upon. Some folks have had success with the good old shad rigs. Some folks have had success with silver spoons with a yellow buck tail. I personally prefer the "straw bait."

The straw bait is a home-made contraption using a plain ordinary drinking straw. The most effective one is the one with one yellow and one red stripe.

The way to make a straw bait is to take about 12 inches of plastic coated steel leader material, attach a swivel snap and your 4/0 hook on one end.

Next, take a drinking straw and cut it in half. Slide one half over the leader material. Place a one-quarter ounce cone head sinker on the leader right on top of the straw. Finally, place a swivel on the end of the leader so you can attach the straw bait to your line.

You should fish the straw bait with a fast retrieve so the mackerel will think it is a glass minnow trying to get away from them.

Spanish speaking fish are back

Call for a copy of the HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS HAS A GOOD SUPPLY OF LIVE SHRIMP. I promised Tommy I would put that in big letters this week.

Last item on the agenda this week concerns the fishing reef(s) to be placed in Hancock County. It seems I made the letters to the editor section again when I reported on the proceedings of the meeting of the DMR Commission held in August.

The "legal beagle" department of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors claims I gave the supervisors a "bum rap" once again. The bum rap was for a report I made on some of the proceedings of the August 15 meeting of the Department of Marine Resources Commission held in Biloxi.

During the course of this official meeting the subject of the usage of approximately 200,000 yards of broken concrete for fishing reefs was discussed. The pit from which the sand for beach replacement was removed in Hancock County was discussed as an ideal location to place the concrete as reef material.

Several commissioners discussed the extent of legal liability that would accrue to the state and felt the only thing stopping them from placing the concrete would be a formal request from Hancock County.

Call for a copy of the HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS HAS A GOOD SUPPLY OF LIVE SHRIMP. I promised Tommy I would put that in big letters this week.

Hence, my statement that: "The only catch to the whole project is the Hancock County Board of Supervisors has to give a formal request to DMR." No previous requests from Hancock County were discussed at this meeting.

The discussions of the request and related material are contained in the official transcript of the minutes of the DMR meeting held Aug. 15. A little "burrowing" will reveal that I did not intend to cast disparity on the Board of Supervisors. I reported what I heard and saw. The official transcript of the DMR meeting will attest to that fact.

I feel the Board of Supervisors is doing a great job in their efforts to bring fishing reefs to Hancock County and they are to be congratulated for their efforts. In my column last week I congratulated them for their efforts on behalf of the fishermen of Hancock County.

This week's wonderful wise words: You gotta get up early to see the mackerel.

Do "legal beagles" chase rabbits, too, Turtle?

Chavez vs. Taylor fight televised at Jubilee

Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino will televise the closed-circuit WBC Super Lightweight Championship rematch fight between Julio Cesar Chavez and Meldrick Taylor Saturday, Sept. 17 beginning at 8 p.m. in the Cabaret Showroom.

Admission is free, and seating will be on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Chavez, who is from Culiacan, Mexico, is 90-1-1 (77 KO's), while Taylor, who hails from Philadelphia, owns a record of 32-3-1 (18 KO's). Preliminary bouts will include WBC Super Featherweight Champion "Jessie" James Leija and number one contender Gabriel Ruelas, and IBF Welterweight Champion Felix Trinidad taking on Yory Boy Campas.

Current WBA Junior Welterweight Juan Martin Coggi (66-2-2), from Santa Fe, Argentina, will challenge Frankie Randall (49-3-1) of Morristown, Tenn.

Jubilee kicks off season with football jubilation

Beginning Sunday, Sept. 18, Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino will feature "Football Jubilation," a weekly and quarterly contest where male and female football forecasters can win great prizes, including tickets to the 1995 Superbowl and thousands of dollars in spending money.

Weekly prizes include $500 to both the male and female with the most correct picks, and $250 to the individual with the least correct picks.

Quarterly prizes (once every four weeks), will include $500 to both the male and female with the most correct picks, and $250 to the individual with the least correct picks.

Grand prizes include four Superbowl tickets plus $4,000 for the overall male and female winners with the most correct picks and $2,000, plus a one-year subscription to the football magazine of choice for the individual with the least correct picks.

All entries must be submitted by 11:59 p.m. prior to the first pro football game each week. Tie breakers for top prizes each week will be combined scores of the Sunday night and Monday night football games.

St. Ann's Seafood Jamboree is this Saturday, Sunday

BY CHARLEE MARSHALL
St. Ann's Church on Lower Bay Road in Clermont Harbor will hold its Second Annual Seafood Jamboree Saturday, Sept. 17 and Sunday, Sept. 18. It will run all day on Saturday and gumbo and potato salad will be available after the 10:30 Mass on Sunday.

The event will focus on the family and the Mass will reflect the family theme during the reunion and parish homecoming.

Seafood plates and seafood gumbo will be $3 per plate or bowl and lots of family activities will accompany the seafood feast. There will be a Space Walk, ring toss, cotton candy, face painting, pony rides, Create-A-Balloon and much more. Father Kelly and Sheriff Ronnie Peterson will be sitting in the dunking booth, taunting everyone who would like to see them take a dive into the water.

Local and out-of-town chefs will share their specialties at the festival so there will be many opportunities to sample some delicious and unique dishes, said Janet and Oliver Sahuque, chairmen of the event.

Expect plenty of music, a 50/50 give away and many more fun activities this weekend. Special tee shirts will be available for remembrances of the jamboree.

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

◆ STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

◆ BE HONEST

Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyers' trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been mislead.

◆ SPELL IT OUT

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

◆ THE BOTTOM LINE

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

◆ BE THERE

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

◆ ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

Hawks, Rocks open division play. Tigers play Greene County

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

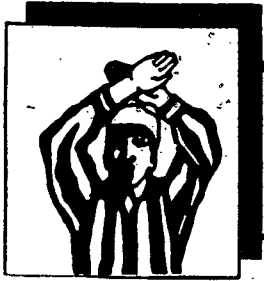

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws, Bay High Tigers, and the Hancock Hawks are all in action this week.

The Rock-a-chaws play the Hawks and the Tigers entertain Greene County.

The Rock-a-chaws will travel to Hancock to take on the Hawks at 7:30pm on Friday. The Hawks are still looking for their first win of the season after being dumped by the Maroon Tide of Picayune last week. The Rock-a-chaws are looking to avenge two straight losses and a win over the Hawks would be nice. The Rocks have not defeated the Hawks since the season of 1981.

The Tigers are playing host to Greene County at 7:30pm on Friday at Joe D. McCullough Stadium. The Tigers are looking to get back on the winning track after falling to the Pirates of Pass Christian last week.

Rocks compete out-of-state

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

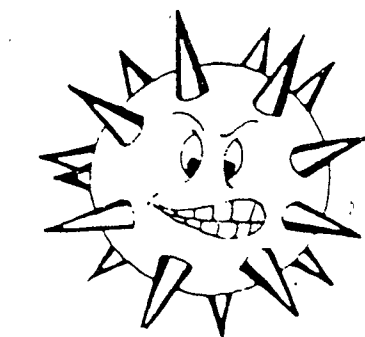

The St. Stanislaus Cross Country team competed in its first meet of the year at the E.D. White Cardinal Invitational on September 10. The meet was held in Thibodeaux.

The Rock-a-chaws finished sixth out of a field of 15 teams on the varsity level and eighth out of a field of 9 teams on the junior high level.

Catholic High of Baton Rouge, a sister school of St. Stanislaus, won the varsity meet and Episcopal won the junior high level.

The top individuals for the varsity Rocks were Mike Mancuso who finished 23rd overall and with a time of 17:26. Scott Esher, Kippy Chamberlain, Patricio Ramirez, Jeremy Goulet, Josh Williams, and Matt Dillenkoffer rounded out the top seven runners for the Rocks.

On the junior high level, Dawson McCall finished 20th overall with a time 12:47. John Rich, Kris Sorenson, Shawn Cain, Donald Pipes, Shawn Frietas, and P.J. Dysart rounded out the other top seven runners for the junior high Rocks.

Schindler's aggressive play pays off

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Sean Schindler, a 1993 graduate of St. Stanislaus, plays soccer for the Merchant Marine Academy. He has developed into a potent offensive weapon for the Mariners.

The sophomore midfielder has scored three goals and assisted another one in the Academy's three games.

The Mariners compete on the NCAA Division III level. The team is affiliated with the Eastern College Athletic Conference and the Skyline Conference.

Schindler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emile A. Schindler, Jr. of Bay St. Louis.

OLA sponsors volleyball tournament

Our Lady Academy will sponsor a volleyball tournament Saturday, Oct. 8 in conjunction with its annual International Food Festival to be held the weekend of Oct. 7-9.

The tournament is for 4-6 person teams, males and females, ages 14 and up. At least one female must be on court with a four-person team; two females are required on court with a six-person team.

The Food Fest and tournament will be on the property next to Our Lady of the Gulf Church on South Beach Boulevard. The tournament will take place rain or shine and will be double elimination.

Registration fee is $5 per person or $25 per team prior to Oct. 8. On the day of the tournament, the registration fee will be $30 per team.

To register, call the school office during the day (467-7048) or in the evenings (467-3205).

League banquet Thursday

The Waveland Little League annual banquet will be Thursday, Sept. 15 at the Civic Center on Longfellow Drive at 6 p.m.

All players, coaches, parents, volunteers and sponsors who participated in the 1994 season are invited.

Also, the 1995 board of directors will be elected. Anyone wishing to make a nomination may call Donna Billingsley at 467-6957 or Missy Pitre at 467-0669.

Nominations can also be made on Sept. 16 at the Civic Center up until 6 p.m.

PRCC loses to Jones

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The Pearl River Community College football team dropped its second straight game to the Jones Community College Bobcats by the score 24-3.

The Wildcats fell to 0-2 for the first time since 1966. The Wildcats gave the ball away on four different occasions with two fumbles and two interceptions.

The Wildcats scored first with a record tying 44 yard field goal in the second quarter by SSC product Jimmy Williams. Less than a minute later, J.J. Thippen ran 82 yards for a Bobcat touchdown and the lead was lost for good.

After 64 years, the series between the two teams is tied 32-32.

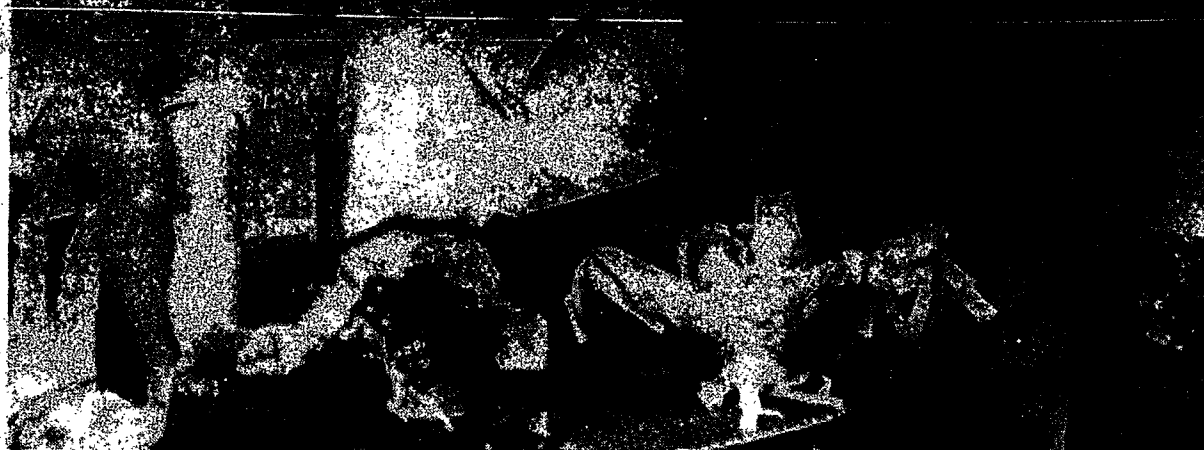

Pearl River will play Coahoma Community College in Clarksdale on Thursday.

Preparing for Magnolia Ball

Ladies on the Magnolia Ball decorating committee create decorations for the annual gala to be held on Nov. 12 at the Diamondhead Country Club. Working on decorations are Rusty Cobb, chairman of the committee, front left, Doris Willson, Grace Hughes, Elois Connelly and Nina Cotton. The Magnolia Ball is sponsored by the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society and is the highlight social event of their cultural season. Marion Kollasch is the 1994 Magnolia Ball chairman.

Cochran announces new national wildlife projects

Senator Thad Cochran announced that the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission has voted to add more than 8,800 acres of migratory bird and waterfowl habitat to the national wildlife refuge system.

The commission also approved 28 North American Wetlands Conservation Fund proposals for Canada, Mexico and the United States for the protection and enhancement of more than 125,000 acres in Central and North America.

Included were three additions to Mississippi wildlife refuges:

Dahomey National Wildlife Refuge (Bolivar County near Cleveland) will get 260 additional acres;

Morgan Brake National Wildlife Refuge (Holmes County near Greenwood) will get 40 additional acres; and St. Catherine Creek National Wildlife Refuge (Adams County near Natchez) will get 340 additional acres.

"These actions will help us protect valuable habitat resources in our state and elsewhere for migratory birds, ducks and other waterfowl," Cochran said.

The Migratory Bird Conservation Commission, created in 1934, approves the acquisition of migratory bird habitats recommended by the Secretary of Interior.

Commission membership includes two members of Congress, two U.S. Senators and administrators from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Interior. Cochran has served on the commission since his appointment in 1981.

Eights Air Force to have reunion

Members of the Mississippi Eighth Air Force Historical Society meet Oct. 7-9 at the Executive Inn in Tupelo, Miss.

Registration will commence on Friday, Oct. 7 at 10 a.m. Among activities scheduled for the first day will be a poolside cook-out with entertainment.

On Saturday afternoon there will be a seminar for the benefit of the children and grandchildren of members of the Eighth in the Churchill Room. The panel will consist of people who were in England during World War II.

There will also be an assortment of memorabilia presented by one of the foremost collectors in Mississippi. Later that evening there will be a gala banquet. On Sunday there will be a memorial service followed by a farewell brunch.

For reservations and information contact the president of the society, Ken Nail, 1211 Eugene Street, Tupelo, Miss., 601-844-2488.

Keep values in mind when choosing dates

By Dr. Ann Jarratt
4-H Youth Development Specialist
Cooperative Extension Service

"What's wrong with girls? I was brought up to believe a guy was supposed to treat a girl with respect, and only after you had established a relationship would you have physical intimacy."

"My dating experience doesn't ring true with what I was taught. The girls I've dated seem to expect physical intimacy and even seem to be hurt if I don't try to make a move."

"I don't understand why they feel put down when I treat them with respect and don't assume that a trip to the movie or out to eat is supposed to end in intimacy. Sometimes I feel they think something must be wrong with me because I'm not all over them."

"I assure you that I'm a perfectly normal male with all hormones functioning. I need some advice."

Maybe it's the girls you've been dating who need the advice.

Let me suggest some things that may be going on with the girls you describe. They may think their worth is determined by how they look on the outside. They may have fallen for the media hype that gives the impression the only women who are successful, popular or desirable are the ones who have gorgeous faces and bodies.

They also may have come to the conclusion from watching television and movies that men only are interested in those great bodies, and intelligence and personality don't count for much.

Maybe other guys they've dated have been interested only in their bodies.

My word to those girls you've dated is that they've missed an opportunity to get to know a real man of character. I hope you will become confident enough to let guys get to know the real you — the you who has values, sets goals, respects you and others and spends time with people who share those values.

Don't give up looking for that nice girl who can appreciate a nice guy on a friendly date. There are some out there, and they're worth looking for.

"A friend from my hometown asked me to share an apartment with him and two other friends. I agreed to do it to save money, even though I didn't know the two other guys at all. As it turns out, I didn't know the friend as well as I thought I did."

"Not long after moving in, I discovered my roommates are the original party animals. Many nights, eight or 10 others just like them are at the apartment most of the night."

"I'm not stuck in the mud, but I can't party every night and keep my scholarship and stay in school. Now that I'm in this mess, what can I do? All of the places I could afford are not available anymore. I'm getting more desperate every day."

You do have a major problem! What about a room in a residence hall on campus? Have you checked the campus newspaper and bulletin boards to see if anyone is looking for a studious roommate? You could check with the local chamber of commerce.

Sometimes they keep current lists of available housing. If you're involved with a local church, ask the pastor to ask if anyone in the congregation has a room to rent to a student.

I hope you find something soon. You do need some relief.

If you have questions concerning your teenage years, write Dr. Ann Jarratt, 4-H youth development specialist, Box 9641, Mississippi State, MS 39762.

Poets are to submit one poem of 20 lines or less, written in any style. Deadline for entering is Nov. 20.

Winners will be notified by Feb. 28, 1995, with prizes awarded immediately.

Poets are encouraged to send their work as soon as possible. Mail to: Arcadia Poetry Press, Dept. K, 1101-A Sovereign Row, Oklahoma City, OK 73108.

State fair has talent contest

The Mississippi State Fair will have a youth talent show Saturday, Oct. 15 at the fairgrounds in Jackson.

The contest is open to anyone three years to 21. Individual or groups will be permitted. All music must be on cassette tape. The program begins at 10 a.m.

There will be a winner and two runner-ups in each group. The winners will receive $100 for first place; $50, second place and $50, third place.

The first place winners from each group will compete for overall winner at the conclusion of the contest.

The over-all winner, 13 years and over, will be eligible to compete at the International Fair Competition in Memphis, Tenn. for cash prizes and a trip to Hollywood for a screen test with CBS.

Schedule
10 a.m., Dance, variety and vocal for ages 3-8
1 p.m., Dance and variety competition, 9-14
2:30 p.m. Dance and variety competition, 15-12
4:30, Vocal competition, ages 9-14
7 p.m. Vocal competition, ages 15-21.

Entry fee is $30 for individual acts; group acts will be charged $5 for each additional person in the act. This money must be paid with a money order. No checks will be accepted. No refunds will be made.

Entry deadline is Oct. 12. For information call Boyce Martin at 354-6113 or the Mississippi Coliseum at 961-4000.

All entries should be mailed to Boyce Martin, 416 Post Oak Cove, Madison, MS 39110.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Hancock County Amateur Radio Association

Are you interested in amateur radio?

Ham radio is a multifaceted hobby of personal enjoyment and accomplishment. Anyone can become an amateur radio operator, no matter what age, gender or physical ability.

Amateur radio is the doorway to many types of communication systems whether it's local or around the world.

If you or someone you know has an interest in electronics or communication systems, amateur radio is a great place to start. Hams can communicate over a variety of different frequencies and modes, such as Morse Code, facsimile, satellite relays, Packet (computer to computer), Earth-Moon-Earth, FM voice, single sideband voice, radio teletype, data and even amateur television.

There is a never-ending series of new discoveries in amateur radio.

The Hancock County Amateur Radio Association is very involved in disaster preparedness in Hancock County.

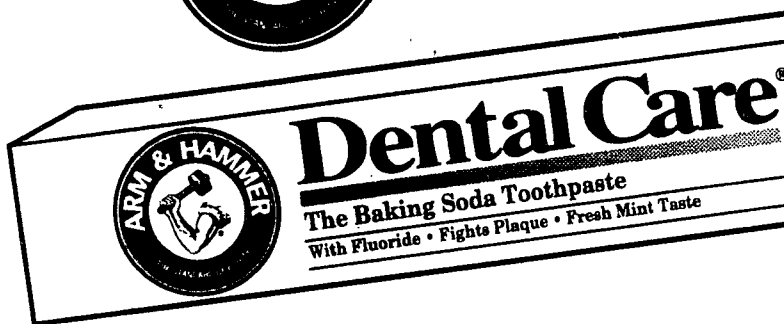

We are a growing organization as one of Civil Defense resources — in the event of hurricane disaster or other related emergencies. We are an all-volunteer staff ready to help the community to handle communication problems that arise in that time of need.

If you are interested in this great hobby, entry level amateur radio courses are being given two nights a week at the Bay-Waveland Hancock County Civil Defense (behind county courthouse on Main Street).

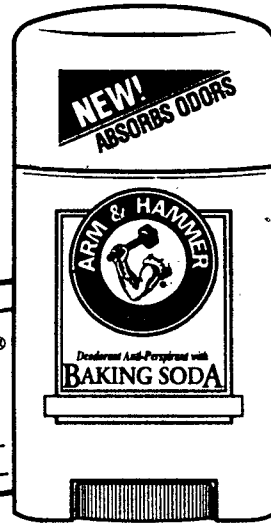

Volunteer instructor Brice Phillips' (KB5MPW) only requirement for class is your own study material. One book ($20), one notebook and scientific calculator. Novice and technician courses being formed now.

If you would like more information, call Brice at 467-1964. A non-profit organization.

The Bob Harmon Football Forecast

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday Sept. 18-19

Buffalo, 24--**Houston, 20
Quick, which team has a bigger confidence crisis? Probably the Oilers, who had to face Dallas last week after being pummeled by Indianapolis. The Bills handled Houston easily last year, 35-7.

**Cleveland, 21--Arizona, 16
These two teams haven't met since the Browns were 29-21 winners in '88. After an embarrassing loss to the Rams and a battle with the Giants, the good news for the Cards is next week's rest.

**Denver, 23--L.A. Raiders, 19
The Raiders were the Broncos' biggest source of frustration in '93, beating them 23-20 on a late field goal in Denver and 33-30 on a field goal in overtime in L.A. Now the Broncos want them bad.

Kansas City, 28--**Atlanta, 17
The Chiefs are 3-0 against the Falcons, winning their last meeting in '91, 14-3. Atlanta's biggest weakness is its pass defense, so K.C.'s winning margin will depend on how hot Joe Montana is.

**Miami, 30--N.Y. Jets, 24
A good bet for game of the week. The Jets' Boomer Esiason threw at will against the Dolphins last season, and N.Y. was the only team to beat Miami twice, 24-14 and 27-10. Not this year, though.

Minnesota, 18--**Chicago, 15
In the past two seasons the Vikings have won four straight against the Bears, and they've had an easier time on the road than at home: 38-10 and 19-2 in Chicago, 21-20 and 10-7 in Minneapolis.

New England, 17--**Cincinnati, 13
Not a good bet for game of the week, though it showcases two QB's of the future, the Patriots' Drew Bledsoe and the Bengals' David Klingler. Who can forget last year's stirring 7-2 N.E. win?

New Orleans, 22--**Tampa Bay, 14
The Saints have won nine of their last 10 games against the Buccaneers, most recently 23-21 two years ago. For what it's worth — not much — the last time they played in Tampa (in '89), they lost.

**N.Y. Giants, 27--Washington, 12
One of the sad ironies of this 75th NFL season is that one of the league's great rivalries is now anything but great. In '93 the Giants beat the Redskins by a combined 61-13 in their two games.

**Philadelphia, 23--Green Bay, 21
This game should be just as close as last year's, in which Roger Ruzek kicked a 30-yard field goal with five seconds left to give the Eagles a 20-17 win. It could be decided by the Pack's defense.

**Pittsburgh, 20--Indianapolis, 19
With an offense that's been revitalized by Marshall Faulk, the Colts will be a real test for the oddly inconsistent Steelers, but Pittsburgh should still win its fifth in a row in this series.

San Diego, 28--**Seattle, 23
Lots of points could be scored in this one, by two potentially explosive offenses. In '93 the Chargers beat the Seahawks in S.D., 18-12, then Rick Mirer led Seattle to a 31-14 win at home.

San Francisco, 33--**L.A. Rams, 16
Here's another rivalry that's been a lot more interesting in years past than it is today, unless you like blowouts. The 49ers have won seven straight from the Rams — 40-17 and 35-10 last year.

**Dallas, 31--Detroit, 20
(Monday) The Lions may have found the right QB in Scott Mitchell, and they may even successfully defend their NFC Central title, but the Cowboys are too much too soon. Dallas won their last battle 37-3.

** — denotes home team

College Football Highlights

(For Sept. 17)

UCLA's visit to Nebraska shapes up as one of the two best games in the country this week. Even though we're picking the Cornhuskers by 14, this one could come down to a field goal — or several field goals — if UCLA's All-America kicker Bjorn Merten has anything to say about it.

Last year in Los Angeles, Nebraska beat the Bruins 14-13, the 'Huskers' lowest point total of the season. The two teams ran up nearly identical yardage, and Nebraska had to come from 10 point behind.

With its offense struggling to overcome four turnovers, three in UCLA's territory, Nebraska's defense forced UCLA to punt four times in a tense second half and limited the Bruins to a single fourth-quarter field goal.

If the 'Huskers, who lead this series 5-4, have hopes of a national championship, they'll need to be more convincing on offense.

The Florida Gators may well be the best team in college football, but this week we think the Volunteers of Tennessee will knock them off in Knoxville.

Last year the Vols were Florida's 20th straight victim in Gainesville, losing 41-34, but they rallied from 21 points down, and the outcome was in doubt until the last two minutes, when the Gators recovered Tennessee's onside kick and ran out the clock.

This season's rematch might have been the game of the year in Volunteer QB Heath Shuler — who threw five TD passes against Florida in '93 — hadn't bolted for the NFL a year early, but even without him, we're picking Tennessee to beat the Gators for only the third time in their last nine games.

In Boulder, Colo., last year's second-place finishers in the Big Eight and Big Ten, Colorado and Wisconsin, square off. They've played only three times — and not since '74 — and the Colorado Buffaloes lead 2-0-1.

The Badgers are 19-10-1 against Big Eight teams and not far behind Colorado in the Top 20, but they'll fall three points short on Saturday and remain 0-for-this-series.

Finally, Michigan State hosts Notre Dame, and the fighting Irish look much stronger, as usual. In '93 Notre Dame won at home 36-14, moving up and down the field at will against the Spartan defense, rushing for 269 yards while QB Kevin McDougal passed for 185 more.

The Irish lead this 97-year-old series 40-18-1, and this week they'll make it eight in a row over Michigan State, by 18 points.

Shannon Scharp a high achiever

Shannon Michele Scharp, 17, was graduated from Bay High School Aug. 12, 1994, a year early.

With hard work, doing home study courses and taking senior English this summer, she accomplished one of her many goals, to finish high school early.

While at Bay High she was an honor roll student, cheerleader for five years, played varsity volleyball three years, was named to the 1994 All-District volleyball team, belonged to SADD two years, YMCA one year and French Club two years.

She served as a St. Patrick's maid 1992, '93 and '94 for the Waveland Civic Association. She was a six-year dance student at Karen Compretta's Arabesque School of Dancing. Scharp is now at the University of Southern Mississippi, where she is beginning her studies in veterinary medicine. She was selected May 1994 to the University of Southern Mississippi Dixie Darling Dance Team.

The dance team performs with the university's band, The Pride, for football games, other events, and in March 1995 they will be performing in Ireland. Scharp is the daughter of Roger and Gay Scharp of Layton, Utah, and of Billy and Sandy Rhodes of Bay St. Louis.

CEHS class officers elected

Coast Episcopal High School students have elected student council officers and class officers for the 1994-95 school year. Ross Martin VanderNoot has been elected president of the student council. A senior and an alpha honor roll student, he is co-editor of the yearbook this year and has previously served as vice president and treasurer of the student council.

VanderNoot is a member of the National Honor Society and Mu Alpha Theta and last year attended the Presidential Classroom.

He received the 1994 Sewanee Award of Excellence, given to a junior who has distinguished himself in academic and leadership roles. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Craig VanderNoot of Bay St. Louis.

Jesmyrn Ward has been elected vice president. Mary Hewes and Leila Hlass will serve as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Senior class officers are Marsha Herrin, president; Sally Cassady, vice president; Brandon Alexander, secretary; Marcie Williams, treasurer; Bobby Garrett, historian; Richie Ashley, co-historian; Jeremy Kelly, student council representative.

Junior class officers are Monica Speights, president; John Dane, vice president; Courtney Taylor, secretary; Tommy Rumrill, treasurer; Anton Speaker, student council representative.

Sophomore class officers are Courtney Hopper, president; Buddy Dauterive, vice president; Christine Andres, secretary; Brooke Hartwell, treasurer; Amelia Taylor, student council representative.

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Gibson has been named a United States National Award winner in Honor Roll. Gibson is a prestigious honor that few students can ever hope to attain. The academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Gibson, who attends Bay Junior High School, was nominated for the national award by Ms. Day, a counselor at the school.

Gibson will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

She is the daughter of Patricia and Everett Tice and granddaughter of Verna Barabino of Bay St. Louis and Ernest S. Dorsey of Lima, Ohio.

Campbell pledges Ole Miss sorority

Cheryl Lora Campbell of Diamondhead has pledged Zeta Tau Alpha sorority at The University of Mississippi. Zeta Tau Alpha is one of 14 national sororities recognized on the Ole Miss campus.

A graduate of Hancock High School, Campbell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Campbell.

Pirates, Bearcats are to tangle

BY TRACI BONNEY

In the last two football seasons, the Pass Christian Pirates have lost closely contested battles against the Long Beach Bearcats. Can one of the Coast's hottest teams, undefeated so far, skin the 'Cats this year?

Pirate head coach Joseph Brown said, "We're expecting one heck of a football game. Long Beach has a good quarterback, a good running back, a solid defense.

"They throw the ball exceptionally well, run a lot of different patterns, and have a solid kicking game. All of their players are potential trouble, but especially their quarterback, running back Avery Taylor, and Jason McGill, who catches everything that comes near him."

On the Pirates' side, Brown said the team is being plagued by several hip and knee injuries.

"We've got a couple of people banged up that we need to get back.

"Just pray for us."

Kickoff for the contest between the 2-A Pirates, who are 3-0 for the season, and the 4-A Bearcats is 7:30 p.m. in Pass Christian.

Allergies may cause ear problems

By Dr. Wynn Jones

MSU/CVM, Box 9825
Mississippi State, MS 39762

"My dog frequently scratches his ear, and it has become red. I know many dogs frequently scratch their ears, but is it a sign of a problem?"

An occasional scratch of the ear usually is nothing to cause worry. However, if your dog has caused his ear to become red, chances are something is irritating the ear.

Possible causes may be an ear infection caused by bacteria or yeast, a foreign object in the ear or in rare cases, an ear tumor. Your veterinarian can check for these problems by doing an ear examination with an ear swab.

Infections generally are treated with ear drops, which cure the condition within a couple of weeks. If your dog shows no improvement after a two- or three-week period or the problem reappears, he may have an allergy.

Up to 80 percent of dogs suffering from chronic ear problems have allergies of some type. The allergy may be caused by something in the air or in the dog's food.

To determine what is causing the allergy, put your dog on a specially formulated diet prescribed by a veterinarian or have a skin test performed. Once the veterinarian has determined the source of the problem, shots or oral medication will be prescribed, depending on the severity of the allergy.

Some dogs enjoy swimming. Unfortunately, a dog's ear canal is poorly designed for this activity because it is difficult for him to get water out of his ears. The trapped water in the ear canal can be another cause of ear infection.

If your dog is a swimmer, make sure the ears are dried out thoroughly, and check the ears periodically for creamy-looking discharge or foul odor.

Young puppies and kittens are susceptible to ear mites, which look like coffee grinds.

These also can be treated with ear drops.

Ear infections can be quite painful and troublesome for a dog or a cat. Have your dog checked by your veterinarian.

"I have two canaries, male and female. Do birds require any special kind of nesting materials?"

Canaries do not need specific nesting materials, but you should avoid giving them certain materials because they can be potentially dangerous.

Some nesting materials to avoid include dryer lint, hair, yarn or string. These materials can become wrapped around the legs and toes of the birds. As the strands tighten, circulation is cut off, threatening the blood supply. Lameness, discoloration or swelling may result.

Unfortunately, the swelling usually is not visible to the bird's owner. Treatment by a veterinarian usually is required.

Store bought nest materials and dry, thin bladed grass from a field work well. Ask your veterinarian for more information.

"I have a 3-month-old female kitten which I want to have spayed, but another cat owner said my cat would become fat after being spayed. She said all female cats should have at least one litter of kittens because it is important to the cat's social development. I have never heard of this, but I am certainly no expert. What do you think?"

If you have no intention of breeding your cat, the only sensible decision is to have your cat spayed. There are already far too many unwanted animals that must be destroyed each year because pet owners failed to have their animals spayed or neutered.

There are many misconceptions about spaying surgery, and probably the most common is that spaying causes the female to become fat and lazy. But cats become fat only if they are using fewer calories than they are eating.

In rare cases obesity can be caused by metabolic abnormality, but it is most often the result of overfeeding and is not caused by spaying surgery.

Another common misconception is that cats should have at least one litter of kittens because it contributes to personality development or that it calms the cat down.

In fact, the heat cycle of the process of having a litter has no beneficial effect.

Continue with your original plan to have your cat spayed.

Between five and six months, preferably before the first heat, is the best time to have a cat spayed.

"I have a 4-year-old dog who has never been boarded in a kennel before, but soon I am leaving the country for two weeks and have no choice other than to put her in a kennel.

"My dog is in good health, but I am concerned that she may develop kennel cough and how would I know if she had it?"

Kennel cough, which can be caused by several viruses and a bacteria, is not typically a life-threatening condition.

Occasionally, pneumonia will follow, especially in debilitated or older dogs, which can cause death. But most healthy dogs respond favorably to treatment.

Taking tractors and other farm equipment out on public roads and highways is often a necessary evil, but with a few precautions, it doesn't have to be a dangerous one.

In the past eight years, about 6 percent of all tractor fatalities in Mississippi have involved wrecks with automobiles. Many of these could be prevented if both farmers and motorists take time to put safety first.

Herb Willcutt, extension agricultural engineer and safety coordinator at Mississippi State University, said proper flashing warning lights and slow-moving vehicle emblems have an important role in safe highway travel for tractors.

"Cleaning or replacing slow-moving vehicle emblems is a quick and inexpensive way to improve tractor safety," Willcutt said.

"Have an escort vehicle with warning lights follow you on the highway whenever possible, and transport equipment drawn behind the tractor at its narrowest width."

If equipment is attached to the tractor, make sure it does

When people are traveling or from work, and motorists are in a hurry during heavy traffic times and are more likely to take risks.

On the other side of the fence, motorists should view tractors as another vehicle that has to get from one place to another, not as a target for passing or reckless driving.

"When making left turns, use a visible signal and watch out for motorists that may try to pass while you're turning," Willcutt said.

"Travel at a safe speed and make sure brakes are adjusted to apply braking power evenly."

For both farm work and highway travel, tractors should have only one operator per tractor, and no passengers — especially children.

"Children often are involved in tractor accidents and fatalities," Willcutt said.
